

IONIX SUPREME and NFL SUCCESS Story . . .

Josh Savage – Tampa Bay Buccaneers

Hundreds of collegiate football players dream of playing in the NFL someday. They work hard, play hard, and hope that the NFL scouts notice their athletic skills. For a fortunate few, their mixed talent, ability and hard work land them a spot on an NFL team roster. Former University of Utah football player, Josh Savage, became one of the few fortunate players to play in the NFL, with a little help from Ionix Supreme.

Josh was first introduced to Ionix Supreme by his father-in-law, Isagenix Star Consultant, Elias Pylidis. Ionix Supreme was a new product launched in 2004 at the Caesar Celebration Convention in Las Vegas. Elias and his wife, Rose, attended the Event and were truly taken in by this amazing product.

“Josh was trying out for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers,” Elias explains. “When we arrived back home from the Convention, we told him to try Ionix Supreme. I explained that it would help him have more stamina and energy. Elias and Rose wanted Josh to have an edge above the other four players who were trying out for the same position offered by the Buccaneers.

When Josh was trying out for the team, he endured two long and tough practices a day. “I started taking two ounces after each practice so I could get back the energy and electrolytes I had burned during practice,” Josh remembers. “Many of the players were hooked up to IV’s after each practice but Josh didn’t need to do that. “Ionix made me feel refreshed and energized,” Josh says. “After the second practice - I felt better than I did after the first.”

Josh believes he made the team not only on his abilities and talent as a great football player, but because the coach knew he could and would give 110% every time he was out on that field.

Josh states that he is happy that he started taking Ionix Supreme. “It has helped increase my endurance on the field which resulted in a better performance in every practice and game. For this, I will be forever grateful, Josh said. Josh also feels very blessed that he has had the opportunity to become a professional football player.

Josh and his wife, Maria, live in Tampa, Florida and take all the Isagenix products. They believe Isagenix continues to give them the edge to enjoy a healthier and more energized life.

Josh Savage